Dear Chairman Falkenburg:

Thank you for contacting me about the Keystone XL Pipeline. I appreciate hearing from you.

On January 20, 2021, President Biden revoked the permit for the Keystone XL pipeline, making one of his first acts as president the cancellation of a modern infrastructure project that was already under construction and the elimination of up to 11,000 high-paying American jobs. Canceling the pipeline also sidelined $1.7 billion in pledged renewable energy development to fully offset the pipeline's greenhouse gas emissions. Prior to the president's announcement, I led the South Dakota congressional delegation in urging the president to reconsider canceling the pipeline, which would provide hundreds of millions in wages, steer needed tax revenue to states and municipalities along the route, and strengthen our trade relations with Canada.

The Biden administration is determined to transition away from oil and gasoline, but that is not something that can be done overnight. Modern pipelines provide a cleaner and safer way to transport oil, with the added benefit of alleviating rail traffic to free up capacity for our farmers. Responsible infrastructure planning should explore realistic opportunities to reduce emissions while still meeting the energy demands of Americans and enabling economic growth. While I know some may disagree, I believe the Keystone XL pipeline could serve as a model for such infrastructure and energy development.

As Congress continues to consider this issue, I will be sure to keep your concerns in mind. Dear Joe,

Thank you for contacting me to share your thoughts on the Keystone XL pipeline (KXL).

As you may know, the original phase of KXL has been operational since 2010. An expansion of the current pipeline was proposed in 2008. It would begin in Alberta, Canada and run through Montana and South Dakota before joining the existing pipeline in Nebraska. Since the pipeline would cross international borders, a permit from the U.S. Department of State was required. After a decade of environmental studies and deliberations, President Trump approved the permit, which President Biden has since revoked.

I wrote a letter to President Biden the week before the permit was cancelled. I have since cosponsored the Keystone XL Pipeline Construction and Jobs Preservation Act, which would authorize the construction and operation of the Keystone XL pipeline without a presidential permit.

Political decisions, good and bad, have implications on real people, which is why I recently hosted a roundtable in Philip with more than 20 small business owners to learn more about how President Biden's Executive Order impacted them individually. I was grateful Reps. Armstrong (ND) and Newhouse (WA) joined me in Philip and we will take these stories back to the halls of Congress.

Thanks again for sharing your views. Please feel free to contact me whenever I can be of assistance.

Sincerely,

Dusty Johnson

Dear Joe,

Thank you for contacting me about the Sabika Sheikh Firearm Licensing and Registration Act (H.R. 127).

As a National Rifle Association member and a gun owner myself, I am a strong supporter of the right to keep and bear arms. Enshrined in the Constitution by our nation's founders, this right must be upheld and defended. The Second Amendment is not a law that we should change on a whim, and I oppose any efforts which attempt to strip it of its meaning. I am opposed to H.R. 127, which seeks to create a public federal registry for firearms and ammunition, among other egregious constitutional overreaches.

You can count on me to be a strong voice for gun owners in South Dakota. In fact, one of my first actions of this Congress was to cosponsor the Concealed Carry Reciprocity Act, H.R. 38. This bill would allow gunowners with state-issued concealed carry licenses, or residents of constitutional carry states, to conceal a handgun in any other state, as long as the permit holder follows the laws of that state.

Thanks again for reaching out, as I appreciate hearing from you. Please feel free to contact me whenever I can be of assistance.

Sincerely,

Dusty Johnson

Dear Chairman Falkenburg:

Thank you for contacting me about the Sabika Sheikh Firearm Licensing and Registration Act. I appreciate hearing from you.

As you know, the Sabika Sheikh Firearm Licensing and Registration Act (H.R. 127) was introduced in the U.S. House of Representatives on January 4, 2021. If enacted, this bill would require an individual to obtain a license to purchase or possess a firearm or ammunition. Additionally, the bill would establish a public firearms database and require an annual firearm insurance fee of $800. Special licensure would be required for the ownership of firearms included on an expansive list detailed within the bill. This legislation has been referred to the House Committee on the Judiciary. A companion bill has not been introduced in the Senate.

As your U.S. senator, a gun owner, and a hunter, I strongly support the Second Amendment, which protects "the right of the people to keep and bear arms." While others may disagree, I firmly believe the plain language of the Second Amendment guarantees the individual right of law-abiding citizens to own firearms. I recognize the importance of keeping criminals and high-risk individuals from obtaining and using firearms. However, I question whether additional laws will prevent high-risk individuals from acquiring firearms when the laws and reporting procedures currently on the books are not being fully enforced.

In my time in Congress, I have consistently opposed any attempt to establish a federal firearm registry or to require so-called universal background checks. Such federal overreach would infringe upon the privacy of law-abiding citizens and impose burdensome costs and liabilities on private sellers.

As Congress considers legislation regarding the Second Amendment, I will be sure to keep your concerns in mind.
